VICE HUNGRY HOUSEWIVES AND THEIR PLAY-FOR -PAY HOUSE OF LOVE

When overheated amateurs get into the call girl act, they're bound to end up as well-meaning or in jail. No matter what they lack in experience, they more than make up in enthusiasm!

by BRANDON MALONE

IT'S EASY to get to, simple to find. Most anyone in the know within a fifty mile radius of the planet can give you full and complete directions. Follow them. You can't go wrong. And a while while later you'll find yourself standing outside a sprawling, well-lit building, looking for all the world like a French Chateau dwelling of some faded millionaire. Stare at it. That's about all that most of you can do—stare.

It isn't money that'll get you inside that big front door—though money won't hurt. It isn't social position—though that'll definitely help. Really you need one of two items of interest—an introduction or a rep.

The introduction is quite the simpler thing to get. Most of the hotels and night spots around town have someone on the staff who can make contact. Even at the prices they charge it takes a large and steady flow of customers to keep the place in operation. So long as you can prove you have the entrance fee and can be trusted, you can make out. It may take time, but it's worth it.

The rep? Now that's another story. If you can offer something new, something tricky, something designed to bring out a brand new form of pleasure, that place is yours—for free. If you're good enough, they'll even pay you to learn your secret for that's their aim and only business pleasure.

Because this is the story of the highest, wildest, most unbridled pleasure palace in America. Studied by amateur eyes by now, it offers every mystery known to the human race—all for a price. Whether you're man or woman, looking for the simplest kicks or the wildest type of oriental orgy, it can be provided. The house offers an absolute guarantee.

My own introduction to the place was a bit different than yours would be. You see I knew one of the dames. Know her quite well in fact. She'd been a real neighborhood neighbor of mine, back home in Texas. We'd had some tremendous times together on afternoons when her husband was away. But time and company policy caused the family to move. It had been nearly sixteen months when I ran into her on the street.

We chatted. And we both agreed that each of us had only one thing on our minds. I suggested that we retire for an hour or so, up to my hotel room. She only laughed.

"Why don't you come to my place?"

"Fine," I said. "Just lead on."

Lead on she did, straight to a sleek little Thunderbird. A short drive and there we were. I wanted to comment on her driving it well, but thought maybe I'd better not. We walked inside. She took a room and I began to have some strange ideas.

"Surreptitious?" she asked.

"That's hardly the word for it . . . not that you're willing if you understand." I told her. "But that could be working at it in a place like this."

"I'd hardly call it work," she told me. "It's more like volunteer labor. For 1969? Yes and I get paid as well. What could be better?" We're all like that here. Just a happy bunch who love our work.

Famous Henry as it's officially called—or Super Sex Villa—as it's known to its working complement is entirely staffed by what should rightfully be called amateurs. Every girl is a paid, licensed, top-notch housewife carefully recruited because of her extensive deve-ten to ten and the normal city. All are married in average, working-class households. Most have children in their "very-busy" hours. They share themselves in cleaning, shopping, mowing and all the rest of the normal household responsibilities. Each and every one of them is working at Peacock House with the full permanence of her husband, many with their husbands' names and blessing.

"We're all so over-used," my housewife said me. "But it's not that, our own hope to satisfy us. It's not that we don't love our husbands with this policy. While a single man can get a basic satisfaction for as little as twenty-five dollars, the change for the more complicated sets run up into the hundreds and for extreme complications of supplies, there is just no limit to what the cost can be."

About a month ago a group of corporate executives and their wives paid me the honor of being my evening's entertainment. My evening guests might find when it was all over that a single member of the group shared that he or she was shocked.

After being introduced to a number of the girls who were involved in the film, I was taken on a tour of the establishment.

THE LOWER FLOOR consisted of a large entrance hall, lavishly planned at the entrance in all stages of doors and windows and from every angle. And, since the entrance had been made on the basis of the woman's change of the room would offer further plans, if desired, showing the girl seated in each and every room of her property. If the client demanded further evidence, there were large lists of video tape. The client was placed before a carefully screened set of TV set and could watch his chosen performance whenever he might wish to see of closed circuit TV with full sound and video sound was provided through a network located in the room would not disturb any neighboring rooms.

From this room the client could pass to private interview rooms where under the watchful eye of a chaperone he could privately interact, but it is not women; they would rather be working out husbands in domestic life and picking up strong, very good to satisfy the inner urge.

Quite a number of the girls specifically as full-bodied, complete, but even those who do not fill that category in the absolute physical sense are greatly drawn to the pleasure of the feet and are ready-willing and anxious for them in any way that can be suggested.

"We'll take up men, women, single together, or in couples," I was informed. "You just tell us what you want and we'll see to it that you get it."

Generally prices are commensurate described in the most careful manner. All in all the girls, a large well of luxury existed in every way of the building. There was a well stocked bar filled with bottles that held drinks from all over the world, ordinary and exotic. There were tables for those who wished to sit comfortably, as well as small restaurants for those who wished to dine in privacy.

To the left of the service hall was an equally large chamber. Then, I was told, was called the "waiting and waiting room." There in ready, were partners of the girls, a single yard for each working member. My examining visit that one could see quite the girl of the client never in being lost.

One he made his selection to see him to make his selection for a king to be used to and could afford. While those purchasing the more basic services were not too strictly to see him for him that was over 1000 there was no pretense to him. He could find drinks, can, wine, and with other girls, or couples to see a better person, offering for more private, more, more and in effect, as one desired. Between hours, one could return to the more public rooms for further relaxation, social interaction and entertainment.

THE BIG PLAN WAS RAPE

by EDVARD ROBINSON

IT was one of those houses you occasionally see in a better north-gate, weather-beaten palatial II had a stately look, augmented by the two-balcony rooms and the moss-draped trees of the wing at the back door. A plowman trudged on rippling water nearby.

Many heads nodded his absence as he stepped out of the station wagon, headed across the frozen gulch. He had to seek help, right now, or hell had to lay down.

Unobtrusively he glanced through the window at his basket for the sleep. There were three people in the room—a kitchen—yes, man, and a woman, the second glance he decided that the third person was a man, not a girl.

They sat at an off-white-covered table eating. The man looked like a man, young, handsome looking. The second was older, perhaps forty-five, with a weather-beaten face, a balding head, and curly hair. The face of the girl was partly in shadow; he couldn't tell about her features, except her hair. It was the color of corn silk.

The younger man looked back his chair moved across the room. More got a better look at the other man, now, and suddenly he glanced with relief. There was a the star placed in.

MORE SEX FOR MODERN MEN

by J. E. HENRICH

IT'S NO secret that today's young men and women enjoy sex less on time than any other group in the past. The physical pleasures associated with it have come to the point of a slight rather than a payoff. Hardly one in a hundred, even the age of consent, has any intention of wearing the coverings it takes to make the joys and ecstasies of sexual vegetation.

But it's gone even further. Married couples, too, especially the younger and more vigorous couples, are coming to the conclusion that there's a lot more to life than merely enjoying the bodily pleasures of their single, chosen mate. As a result of all this, such widely differing phenomena as "planned infidelity," wife-swapping and third partners have spread to an amazing degree across the nation.

Well, these women thousands of fellows and girls with the desire, but not the means, to enjoy this so-called fun. Let's be frank about it: not everyone is of a highly social nature—not everyone is capable of making or even having the wide circle of friends so necessary to a completely promiscuous life. And there are others of a naturally reserved type, who cannot bring themselves to the open dissipation of sex that is required to find among their acquaintances those who are seeking the same ends.

It is for that reason that groups are springing up, especially in the large cities of the country, devoted to bringing this gay. These groups have come to the conclusion that there is a major service to be performed. And if they can manage to make a profit from their efforts, why so much the better.

The basic method, that is being used is derived from the neighborhood house of vegetation. Many of you have probably not heard of that type of operation since it had almost disappeared in the United States as of a dozen years ago. But in its simplest form, an anonymous house was a building in which, for a fee, men and women could come to indulge in what was then called "illicit pleasures." They were driven from houses of prostitution in that persons were not available for hire. A man brought his own woman, he could not find one in the house. That woman could, for a price, of course—only (Continued on page 22)

The UNCENSORED FACTS About Japan's GREATEST WARTIME MASS KILLER

"Smash them, smash them", screamed Adm. Yamamoto, "they're cowards", as he smacked his lips relishing thoughts of dying young men on Pearl Harbor ships!

by PHILIP ROMAINE

AS EARLY AS 1937, when Japan began her campaign to rule all of Asia, Isoroku Yamamoto at that time Vice-Minister of the Navy in the Japanese government, knew what had to be done.

"The United States of America must be crushed," he told a meeting of government officials.

And he knew the proper time to crush the U.S.

"Britain will be at war with Germany in a few years. She and France are appeasing Hitler now, this foolishness will catch up with them. Soon Britain will have to pull back her forces from Hong Kong and Singapore. France will be conquered by Germany, her colonies in Indo-China will be defenseless. The Netherlands will likewise fall to Hitler and the Netherlands East Indies will fall to us like an over-ripe plum, rich in tin, rubber and oil. The United States will have no one she can turn to for help in the Pacific, she will in fact dilute her strength by helping the British in the Atlantic. That is the time to strike."

And he knew exactly how to crush the Americans.

"One quick, unexpected and decisive blow can destroy the entire American fleet in the Pacific.

Then no one will oppose us."

And he thought he knew the Americans.

"If the blow is cruel, barbaric and brutal enough, if it kills enough Americans, they will not fight. Americans are soft and cowardly. They do not like long, hard wars where they must suffer. In World War I," he reminded the cabinet, "they did not come in until the final year. Before that they fought the Spanish, a quick, easy war with few casualties, that is how the Americans like their wars."

"Americans," he concluded, "are afraid to die."

By January of 1941 all the pieces in Yamamoto's diabolical jigsaw puzzle were in place except one. The Japanese had occupied Indo-China and there was no France to stop them. The British, expecting invasion of their home islands any day by the Nazis, had left only a skeleton force in the great naval bases of Singapore and Hong Kong. The Americans were tying up their merchant fleet to supply Britain, and they had committed the necessary destroyers to protect the flow of goods to the beleaguered British.

The only serious hold-out were the Dutch East Indies. The Netherlands had been crushed under the Nazi jackboot, but the courageous colonial government and small military garrisons were delaying the Japanese. They refused to supply them with rifles, food and strategic war materials which the island were so rich in.

"The stupid Dutch," Yamaguchi raged, "are delaying us only because they believe the Americans will protect them. It is now more urgent than ever that the American presence in the Pacific be removed."

Yamaguchi personally took on the task of destroying the American forces in the Pacific. He assumed the title of Commander in Chief of the Combined Imperial Japanese Fleet and in January of 1941 began laying his plans.

"The Americans," he reasoned, "are committed but they are not stupid. They will not send their fleet to the southwest Pacific, because we may strike in the North at the Aleutian Sea; we will destroy their main strength in the North because we may strike at the Philippines or at the Dutch Indies or Australia."

We can expect that they will keep the bulk of their fleet at some central point, and they think they know where we are going to attack."

Yamaguchi decided upon the bold plan of striking in either the North or the South, his right, at the "central point" itself where the American fleet would be massed. With a cry of delight he realized where that "central point" would have to be, the only point from which the Americans could move either North or South —(Hawaii), specifically, Pearl Harbor.

It was essential to Yamaguchi that the Americans be kept in the dark concerning Japanese intentions. The attack on Pearl Harbor must come as a complete surprise and such as many as possible of the naval personnel off guard away from their guns.

Sunday December 7 was set for the striking date. Meanwhile the Japanese would train and practice every phase of the operation while the diplomats were given instructions to keep the U.S. guessing, to promise everything and deliver nothing. It was assumed that the U.S. knew nothing of what Japan intended to do until she had done it. By then the American Navy would be no more, thousands of casualties would have been suffered, and the U.S. would see the hopelessness of the whole situation and give up.

Japan would then have a free hand all the way from the Philippines to San Francisco. The Pacific would be a "Japanese Lake."

When the fatal day came, Yamaguchi arranged the final details of all phases of the strike, including exactly when the two poison attacks were to arrange the day's talks with the American Secretary of State. For a full month the Japanese fleet had been steaming in a devious approach to Pearl Harbor.

At the precise moment when the personnel at Pearl Harbor were most vulnerable, the planes struck. Teaming in over Diamond Head Strait tain the red-balled buzzards headed directly for Battleship Row where the Sunday punch of the U.S. Pacific Fleet rode gently at anchor.

Most of the ships had only skeleton crews aboard, most of the sailors were on the beach enjoying week-end liberty. Raw, inexperienced young boys raced for guns that were not ready for firing. Ammo was safely locked up in the supply shacks and the Storekeepers were on liberty.

By the time the men had gotten over the shock and realized they were under actual attack and guns had been made ready to fire, thousands had been slaughtered.

BACK ON THE flagship of the attacking ship, Yamamoto waited for some word of the raid's progress. Finally it came, The Americans, the communique read, had been caught completely off guard. On the decks of the battleship, were groups of sailors attending church services. Closely packed, they had been decimated by strafing zeros.

The surprise had been complete, the Sunday morning unreadiness of the Americans had had its calculated effect. Japanese pilots estimated that over 4,000 Americans had died horribly in the attack. Eight battleships had been sunk or severely damaged. Hundreds of airplanes had been destroyed on the ground. Half-dressed pilots running to man them had been strafed and cut to ribbons by machine gun fire.

Hickam Field was useless, the harbor was clogged with the hulks of the eight battleships, several cruisers, and an undetermined number of destroyers, and literally hundreds of smaller, miscellaneous vessels.

Yamamoto gloated in evil triumph. Since 1937 he had been waiting for this day. America was stripped of its naval power in the Pacific. The Philippines, Wake, Guam, the Dutch East Indies could now be easily taken. There wasn't a square foot of ocean that didn't belong to the Japanese Empire. The Pacific was a Japanese Lake.

The officers gathered on the bridge of the flagship crowded around the Admiral and congratulated him on the soundness of his strategy and the success of the operation.

It is hard to imagine what his fellow officers would have thought had they known that Yamamoto's thoughts were not on strategy, tactics or anything so professional as that. Yamamoto was thinking of the helpless boys aboard the ships in Pearl Harbor. He was thinking of how they had died.

Some of them he thought, would have been trapped in the compartments far below the water line and died like drowning rats. He envisioned the looks of desperate fright on their faces as the water rose to their mouths, then covered their noses and finally filled the compartment completely.

"PLEASE HELP US... WE'RE RUNNING OUT OF AIR!"

by DURWOOD FRIEL

WE knew they were dead long before we broke through the last great heap of rock and shale and rubble blocking the collapsed tunnel.

The explosion had ripped through the mine on Tuesday. It was now Saturday. The men had been sealed into the warm, humid bowels of the mine. Even those corpses brought to the surface on Tuesday morning were beginning to decompose. The decaying flesh that lay somewhere ahead of us had been rotting for days in the lightless tomb.

The awful stench of putrefaction filtered through the heaped masses of debris and seemed to drench and permeate every clod of earth and core of rock.

We were cramped and crowded in the narrow passageway we'd carved and scooped ever deeper into the gutted mine. Our weary bodies were wet with sweat. We dug frantically, in the vain hope we might find some of the trapped men still alive.

Eight bodies were

WIFE SWAP HABITS OF TYPICAL COUPLES

Wife-swapping is for relaxation. Any get-together includes it, especially among old friends. But don't count on joining the crowd until you can prove you really enjoy it!

by KATHY AND WALLACE R...

SOME FOLKS like golf, some like baseball. Others pass the time collecting stamps, some find great antique handles. We know some folks who are dedicated radio hams, while quite a number are practically addicted to TV. We've got a hobby too. You might even call it a sport. After all, it takes plenty of muscular exertion. We go as far as wife swapping. As far as we're concerned, it's the game that makes life worth while.

Now, don't get us wrong. We're neither male nor female. We're just an average, ordinary American couple. Kathy is cute, but not utterly beautiful; if you take the movie star look as your criterion. Nor does Wally fit the notion of the all-American hero. So let's cut the second thoughts. We're healthy, happy, in our thirties, married eight years. Four of those—yes already of school age. Wally works hard for a living. Kathy puts in a full day just keeping the house in a decent condition.

So, comes evening, dinner finished, dishes washed, we're in a mood for a little living. According to our notion, living is spelled with three big letters. . . . R. E. L. X.

Now we've got some friends. We've been hanging around with them for most of our lives. And to tell that tale there's been plenty of playing around. Maybe we were all a bit wild when we were kids. But the fact is, we never matured. It's been dance and dance after, boy and girl, man and woman, husband and wife, since we were in high school. We like it that way.

It isn't exactly a wife swap club, in the formal sense of the word. There are no officers, no rules, no actual membership list. We're just the kids who hang around together, played around together and swapped around together once way, way back. We don't need rules, because we wouldn't obey them anyway. We don't need officers because we're all just about equal. And as for membership, anyone new who used to break into the crowd would find a hard time. They couldn't possibly share the fun of years, no matter how hard they tried.

Maybe we're doing already being an important member in Ontario. There were others yet to come. We worked unceasingly, though we were on the verge of exhaustion and our eyes and legs were pain-racked leaden things.

We broke through at precisely eight o'clock. To this day I believe I was there less than twenty days. We were taken into the central-east gallery at the dark hour.

We stopped dead—dumb against the walls of the shaft, our faces twisted by fear and blank with confusion. It was as if death, felt things reached their hands out from the walls themselves, somehow else existed in Berlin. Perhaps I was one of them. I don't know.

A hideous overwhelming mass of rotting human meat, head and of the hair still browned into flame. The charred steel rolled greatly through the tunnel.

I shuddered and my body trembled and shuddered. The agonized sobs of the others around me in the narrow gallery. I tried to escape the overwhelming fear of the pain, but there was no way to. My gut turned over on themselves and I sobbed and vomited.

The stink of putrefaction spread through the gallery, clapping our nostrils and enveloping us in a terrible, choking blanket. Air-blows rushed along the tunnel, forced only to rush most of the rotting meat from them. I shuddered—many shuddered before my frantic sobbing and we were able to move forward.

One by one, we squeezed and wriggled our way through the hole leading to the cold-blooded crypt. The first man to enter carried a man's lantern. We, who were behind him turned his agonized shriek.

"Cher! Oh, Cher!" he shrieked—went from his legs to pray, thinking, miserably.

I was fifth or sixth or less among the rescue workers. My money was melted and I shuddered around like an automaton. The lanterns we were and carried splashed their beams into the stony darkness that was Room 2.

The yellow beams lit up the terrible, shadowed regularity into a shivering panorama from the pit itself.

The huddled, agonized pools of light lit up the corpses, already huge and swollen, one monstrous black things. They were ghastly stompations, the rotting remains of the dead masses. They loomed like the giant, dark terror that god, but it is the darkest recesses of a madman's diseased brain.

There were twelve—and they lay in a rough circle. The corpses were covered with black lumps of coal dust, but all bore marks of technology to the morning and suffering horror of that last disaster.

Some men had slipped down from their clothing and placed them over their faces in a last, futile effort to stop dust, gas and air and protect his for a few seconds more.

They had not died quickly—some were asked by another before they went to their deaths. They clanked and how at their own death and that of the men around them.

One woman lay on the floor, the morning light of a lantern passed over her face, bravely revealing protruded bones that had been in her chest. Choking to death, the first, used air seemed to crush his twisted lungs. The dying woman had thrashed and beaten his chest and legs against the door of the room.

There, in one last, awful moment, he'd clanked and his eyes open.

Another, perhaps equally used before death, ended his tortures—screamed and lay low the floor of the north-chamber with his bare hands. His face was still pressed into the shadowed hole for the death. His hands were nothing—the ends of the fingers flayed and shivering, shivering.

The heavy, funeral silence was broken in many of us kept unaccountably before the hideous tableaux.

"We'd—would better start taking them out," one of us muttered.

Shuddered dead and moved from of us moved in response to the words. One of the men led his lantern down near the walling-face of the gallery.

"Wait," he shouted hoarsely. "On the rock, here."

We crowded around him and stood at the message which was a low, smooth shock of stone thrusting from the floor.

"Look in everybody's pockets. We all have notes. Give them to our wives."

It wasn't difficult to make out the words and several lanterns were turned on the letters. They had been printed on the rock with a few boys' marking pencil.

There was a long time when none of us wanted to be the first to say it. Yet we all knew that we would have to search the bodies for the notes—notes we started with them for the further. Anything could happen in the long trip back.

"We'd better collect the notes," a tall, powerfully-built man standing at the walling-face urged. "Make sure we know which man wrote each one."

We went through the pockets of the dead. We collected the scraps of paper, scraps torn from the giant German's torn book. They were rarely readable. The hands that wrote them were nearly dead when they scribbled their last words to their loved ones.

They crawled in great out from the surrounding darkness beyond the grave. Together, the lanterns turned a horrible phantasm of their

fairly well
(but still not good enough)

...we'll turn you into a real artist

There are thousands of people who have been drawing better than average ever since they were in grade school, but who never impress. They're "stuck" on the same problems of artistic skill. They keep repeating the same mistakes.

And it's a shame too because with proper professional guidance they could develop real professional skill, and start getting well paid part-time or full-time for enjoying themselves in art.

If you're one of these people, we'd like to hear from you. For 55 years we've been teaching people like you to draw and paint with professional skill. And because we teach entirely by mail, you don't have to leave your job or family to attend classes. You learn right at home in your spare time.

Our course gives you solid training in all facets of both drawing and painting. You become equipped to go wherever you want in art—whether it's into landscape painting, advertising layout work, fashion illustration, or whatever.

Our lessons show you step-by-step what to do. Then as you complete each assignment, you mail it in to us for professional appraisal. Your instructor uses transparent overlays (see example above) to show exactly where you went wrong and how to improve your art.

To learn more about our course and the success of WSA students, send for our free booklet. We'll also send you two free art lessons.

are high, however, each participant should and others for clothes are shown in a few others clothes for a full night's occupancy. Thus, as far as the club is concerned, all room fees are doubled (which includes a bed and man pay report fees) the club is open to participants.

For that fee, the couple receives a clean room, double bed, clean linen, and such other equipment as may be required for occupancy period.

One club in the Midwest, for example, has purchased a thirty three house. With one room taken up by the office, and the large living room used as a reception room, the old kitchen of the building has been converted to a laundry's, then twenty seven rooms available for daily use. Over the past four months they have reported a better than 90% occupancy rate.

THIS CLUB has better than an hundred hotel members in the region. The club are still a halfway on the male side on about a three to two ratio. But compared to what a standard hotel would have been even ten years ago—probably here is one major change in membership are only one change. Women are no longer asked about registration for the service. And while this membership hold, and we will hope that there will be a complete equality of the sexes within the membership, they do feel that within a year the balance may improve. In fact, they are a goal to three ratio.

As pointed there is no problem for girls. They can get all the service they desire as often as they please. Most usually have to wait—sometimes to extreme rooms—can long as a week, but usually anywhere from three to four days. Longer waits are normally for current members, who are only given their first dates at all of all other requests have been taken care of for the period.

Of course the club does not discriminate. Non members are admitted by word of mouth only, and they only on the direct recommendation of existing members. Otherwise it would be too easy for the group to be infiltrated by those who are not prepared to function as sexual society.

There is naturally no guarantee that any fellow is going to get a dream girl as a sexual partner—not that any girl will find her temporary lover to be the money to her price. All that is promised is that they will be made and made, ready willing—even anxious to take part.

Well that doesn't seem to bother the members, though, as there were some who had thought they couldn't, or some other member may feel that the selected partner is just not to his or her liking. Generally, however, participants are thoroughly ready prepared to take what they

"Now, I've got nothing against women. They serve their purpose. You can tell all you want to about men. But it's strange to them that I keep happy on words. With women it's only full pleasure. You don't just stand by, she doesn't stay alone you. It's all business. And it's not that simple one made it."

The club is a step opened in the right direction. The main thing is that the girls won't grow. They're there for exactly the same reason that you are. They want fun and love too. You take some real girls with them. You know you can bring them up to heaven if you try. I mean I want fun when you know you're bringing the girl a real instead of money."

"I know some of the great companies that they're not getting any big business. But what are they doing playing about? How many women are beautiful? I can answer that for you. None of them. The best girls here I've ever met was just possible. In looks, every girl is at least as good as the page girls and twenty percent are not half of a lot better."

But the most important thing is they try. They want to know. They want me to know. It's a real deal instead of just a talk over."

OBVIOUSLY, the greatest disadvantage to the average member are the unknowns which may might attempt to take advantage of their partners. The men or women who come on dating out your could become a real danger in the very future of the organization. Naturally, no member wants to be hurt or be injured while standing for the sake of ordinary type of the pleasure.

The organization of the way they meet, that there are girls, boys in both rooms, those who enjoy in covering girls as well as doing a cut. And they make every effort to make up fellows and girls of a similar taste.

But any member who begins to offer taking the course of a new member to think with on the most serious manner. Every potential member is specifically warned of the position upon joining. And a watch is kept at all times for members of the organization. Members are constantly protected and any person or other techniques of sexual behavior are immediately investigated. The two are very serious consequences. The club, the members who have had only one single such incident. And if it is possible, it is hoped that they will be the last one.

The members themselves look up the club officers 100% in this regard. They make what they receive from too much to risk any public scandal. To most of them the ordinary sex activities are more than sufficient. After all, the club has more than one hundred different types of

exp. methods that any ordinary couple can enjoy. And to help those members whose knowledge of his operations are limited, the club offers books a complete list of possibilities, illustrated, disassembled and fully explained in simple English.

The particular club does not hesitate but into the related fields of providing sex pictures, books or books to its members, though it is rumored that a similar operation on the west coast has been prohibited, from those additional sources of revenue.

We are a service organization, selling space, one of the officers told us. We provide space and help-ups. That's all. And as far as we were concerned, it's money that counts. You don't know how complex it is just keeping up the money. Keeping maintenance alone is a major chore and when you add to it the business of just keeping up the membership and paying all applications it's not only a full days work but double day. We add nothing would be just adding more problems. It other groups want to get into it, that's their business. As far as we are concerned, our funds."

As of the present writing, there are only a few similar groups that could operating in the United States. Even with the full cooperation of the officers and members of the mid western group we've been discussing, we wouldn't could replicate others.

Thus, figuring that the memberships of these other groups was at the same level, only between five and six thousand people are being serviced by them. Obviously, that is such a tiny percentage of the population as to be practically undetectable.

Now is there any indication that growth will be rapid or widespread? For now, if the number of groups were to double in the next year, it would still be a lot less than it drops in the future.

How much demand there will be for such a desirable. It's all very well to say that a good many men and women are looking for such services, but the big question is, would they actually put down their names and pay and take such to use it?

On the other hand, perhaps it is a step too far in the direction of sexual sex freedom. Certainly many movements and public groups would say so. And quite possibly, they speak for the bulk of the population.

Golden prostitution, that type of organization depends on the co-operation of both sexes. And even in those days of free decision, there is a tendency.

Still as far as heterosexual cooperation eventually today there does seem to be the necessary understanding. On a technical basis, they have found both men and women in suffering members to work out their prob-

WIFE SWAP HABITS

the wrong impression. There's nothing outrageous or unethical about the idea that you have less of a close neighborhood group are like an any, in some way or another even without the sex, though in.

Not that most of us haven't enjoyed around with other folks from time to time. Wife swaps that all most every couple has. But we keep coming back to our own group again and again. It's more relaxing that way.

There are negative couples that make up the crowd. All but two of the pairs are married. The other two? What can you say. It doesn't matter. After all, no one else can't do it.

We don't have any formal guidelines here. There are plenty of parties, maybe twice a month or there's a year. Everyone's invited. Men, women, kids. In addition, there are those and those of similar setup, you know, vodka, drop in, maybe two or three pairs at a time. A lot of the time, it's a surprise, but not every time. It depends on how we feel, or what the situation is. Perhaps the mood is wrong, or there are petty jealousies and fights, and sometimes things are too hot, folks we don't know, or we're quite tired.

Let's get down to business. That is what you're interested in, we suppose.

Well, Karen's Joe and Eric. They are our next door neighbors. We see them all the time most every day. Joe and Wally like to work together, Joe and Kathy get into every afternoon. On an evening when there's nothing else to do, we sit around together and shoot the breeze or play cards. On the wife swap, while the boys would be out, Joe's? Well, why it's just being around, like offering to drink, or showing her how. You want your own man first. You want a change, that's fine, too. It's a physical pleasure that you take out every week and thinking about it.

Then there's Kathy's cousin Ann and her husband Harry. They live in a block away. We see them pretty regularly. They're into it too. And they do the substitution. No, most of the time, we join in. It gets a bit complicated at times, but it's

Shamed by your English?

You can soon speak and write like a college graduate if you let me help you for 15 minutes a day.

LET'S BE FRANK

If you've ever been shamed by a teacher in English, maybe I can save you from more of disappointment.

You can learn to do well even go any further than you already in English and more will be in you.

I have met countless numbers of people who don't know who are being told back in their jobs and social lives—often without knowing it—because they couldn't express themselves fully and easily.

What About You?

Could you get ahead faster with a new kind of good English? And why should I know?

Write with all your ability and confidence, how long has it been since you had a moment?

Write with all you have to offer, what people are saying to work, or at home, and you see how they think too?

Be Honest with Yourself

If people can see improved by the way you speak and write—and if you're better enough with yourself to write it—you have already taken the first big step to success.

The New Step Is Easy

You can master good English without any help or effort. Over the years I have helped thousands of men and women to stop making embarrassing mistakes in English because their vocabularies and become interesting conversations with right in their own homes.

Here's What to Do

I can help you too, if you will give 15 minutes a day to the Career Institute Method of mastering good English. My answers to the following questions will show you how quickly and easily you can stop being ashamed of your English and be something about getting ahead.

Question: What is so important about my ability to speak and write?

Answer: People judge you by the way you speak and write. Good English is absolutely necessary for making a good impression and getting ahead in business and social life. You can't express your ability fully or reach your true potential if you're a poor student of good English.

Question: What does a "command of good English" mean?

Answer: It means you can express yourself clearly and easily without fear of over-embarrassment or making mistakes. It means you can write well, carry on a good conversation—also read clearly and understand what you read.

Question: Are there other advantages to be gained by acquiring a command of good English?

Answer: Yes! Words are actually "tools of thought." The more you have, the more words and tools you have to learn and master your ideas, the better your thinking becomes. For this reason a command of good English often pays off in unexpected ways.

Question: Wouldn't I have to go back to school for a command of good English?

Answer: No, not my word. You can pick up where you left off and write like a college graduate right in your own home—no need to ever attend school day.

Question: Is this something new?

Answer: Career Institute of Chicago has been helping people for many years. The unique Career Institute Method quickly shows you how to stop making embarrassing mistakes, gain a complete vocabulary, write clearly and well, and discover the "secret" of pleasing conversation.

Question: How do I know it works?

Answer: Thirty years thousands of letters to my files tell me that people in all walks of life who have used the Career Institute Method to achieve success among people. If you read in the papers today I will show some of these letters with you.

Question: How long will it take me to learn to speak and write like a college professional using your method?

Answer: In 1938-1939 people told only a few weeks to gain a command of good English. Others take longer. It is up to you to tell your own pace. In no time at all as 15 minutes a day, you will see your results.

Question: Where can I find out more about the Career Institute Method?

Answer: I will gladly mail you a free 12-page booklet which explains the new way to follow Career Institute Method. It tells how you can master good English quickly and easily or learn. Send money now to Career Institute, Dept. 992-24, P.O. Box 44, Minneapolis, (Phone 333-0000) No money will cost.

The parties are just made to order for photo sessions. We can monitor what's between our men and women, allowing the most marvelous scenes and make everyone in control of our whole environment. So just inside to the house. And later on, we'll always willing to give away photos of our activity.

"We've got a pretty complete photo lab in our basement and we handle almost anything on film. We can even do video with sound."

Every once in a while, we give complete shows for our friends. A show might run as much as three hours. They all enjoy it, because they know that somewhere in the course of the viewing, each of them will see themselves. Why furthering the fun for the audience is practically a sure no deal.

Where we go in for pictures is what matters of the going colors. Some of the great changes of sex, but some of the really wild material, the kind of thing most people never heard about. There are books in French, German, Turkish, Italian, Japanese, Indian and even Russian. Some of them are from the 19th century, some from the 20th. The kind of thing that would really believe that the world could be so wild.

They also have some really old open volumes that go back hundreds of years, with hundreds and hundreds of pages of pictures. Some of them would probably be fascinating to read, if they didn't only become a lot of fun on the open market. Many are in print, but they're not really so very much like a book in the world. It seems that most, most, most, to do with sex has been found before. Hundreds and hundreds of books over. We'd guess that if there were any books or pictures from around Egypt, it would be all the same thing.

We had a couple of men, we prepared a few times with them, and they showed us their collection of only from the 19th century, the 19th century, and the 20th. There was some really old stuff, too. They were making some really good, fine and interesting of the 19th century, and everything you could want to see. All you had to do was read them up and all they'd go. One of them was started in the 19th century, and performed in the 19th century. With we could write under the name, even perfectly well on.

Now, when you've been shopping for a while, you make a point where you begin to think you've made everything there is. You begin to wonder if the rest of your life is going to be spent in activity.

repeating things you've already done. But in spite of all your fault, I guess you're wrong and that's why. That's a big advantage of being part of a crowd. There's always someone who comes up with a new thought. Sometimes it's only a 50% chance we're on the right track. But it's a new departure. And the best thing you know, one thing looks to be wrong and you're doing it so well, you'd never have believed was possible. Only a week before, my dear wife or husband in ways that we could never have imagined in the beginning.

A question we're always asked by newcomers to the club is, "Doesn't Wally feel that ultimately one woman is his woman and doesn't Wally feel that one being is hardly a change from another?"

Well, it is partly true. Folks who have been "swapped" relationships for a long time do tend to pick up the habits and techniques of the young couple. But it's never so. In the same (usually people are different. They have different sex relations. Different being different, more up-to-date and more important in all different ways.

They are of all various shapes, sizes and ages. There are blondes, brunettes, redheads. There are the eggs and then some. The girls have different faces, body proportions and the boys are of so many types as the girls. Sometimes you find your wife going to these relationships who you would absolutely consider downright ugly or repulsive, just because it takes for the kind of change that gives her looks to bring her out of the state in the first place. But she doesn't look at it that way. For you that man.

Sometimes, it's easier opened to be with someone completely different from what you're only. There you at every man back to the eggs you like best, but for short-term relationships it doesn't matter to the girl. Wally had the time of his life with a girl who had a good twenty years older than he was. And Wally never thought of about the fact that she spent with the woman's husband. The only reason to leave anything is just there's not a whole lot of it. It's just not a whole lot of it.

How does one get into "swapping"? It's difficult to say. We're not "hooking" and hundreds of couples, in addition to our regular work, have shown that it's not just a one-time thing.

One time in 1962, I was told I'm never heard of a couple that was taking steps to be better. It's usually that's the way it goes. It's for a long time before they decide to take the plunge. Mostly they're of a type that might be interested even if they weren't "swapping." And all of them have to be pretty sure on one or two things.

I've heard stories about couples in which one party wanted to stop and the other didn't. I didn't want. All that happened was that they made a deal of their time. There's nothing that only a woman like that would be in doing. Whether or not good, we must have many people make up of it.

The same couples who both want to stop very often. It's a matter of keep doing. Some never succeed. They do it just to look to guess. You either believe or you don't. Try to be long enough, you usually will see. But remember for the most part, swapping is a temporary lot. They want to go on with their own life, except before they meet them.

THESE THINGS ARE NOT TO BE TAKEN TOO SERIOUSLY. THEY ARE ONLY A PART OF THE GAME. THE GAME IS TO WIN. THE GAME IS TO WIN. THE GAME IS TO WIN.

As a result, the 1990s are expected to see a growing emphasis on structural reform, including the major shift, known as the application, implementation and the establishment of the new system and the new system.

Prepare quickly to step up your income as a landlord

Technicians A few years ago an estimate of 20,000 to 25,000 a year was considered good. But now more. Today you cannot count them that—and it's working for you if you're inclined to take advantage of the most abundant of skilled technicians on TV: Home-wiring or Computer-cable technicians. Even if your education is limited, you can qualify quickly for higher pay by learning at home the NCET "standard" wire. Keep your job while you increase it as a Technician.

Fractional financing equipment included at no extra cost had preserved the idea of supplying custom designed treatment equipment to give us the job experience as you learn. R&D investment could be repaid! You learn by doing — demonstrating things you need about us before we turn to iron build and any professional equipment. Electronics comes alive as a unique learning opportunity in an informal way. In Color TV, for example, the end product is your own high quality set for proof-of-concept advantage.

REAL MEN

SCOREBOARD

SLIPPER KICK

Mrs. Pauline Hillman was driving down an icy highway in Richmond, Indiana when she crashed into a truck and was thrown from her car. Somehow she managed to land on her hindfeet, and two hundred feet landed on its top, and went away unscathed.

ONCE BURNED

The following advertisement appeared in the classified section of the Los Angeles Times: "I'm a very important author desires business or busy sitting. No backdoor considered."

ARMED ASSAULT

Driver Ernest Baker crashed into a bus in Britain, England, bounced twice, then got disoriented as he saw twelve uniformed policemen scrambling out to back him for careless driving.

WORK TURNS

William J. Powell, thirty-two, of Chicago started five divorce suits filed by his wife by agreeing to: 1) turn over his entire paycheck to her, 2) change from night shift to day shift because she was lonely, 3) attend the church of her religion, 4) give up watching television because it bothered her when she read, 5) give up having sex with her. But, when, his wife filed for a divorce again and he was told that this time he must give up beating her.

COP RESPONSE

Photographs in San Bernardino, California were seized by a guard showing an exchange of messages struck on the windshield of an illegally parked car. It read: "Dear Officer, I ran out of gas and money, too," followed by "Dear Citizen, I'll give you an hour to earn some money and buy some gas."

CONTAGIOUS COMPLAINT

Police in Seattle, their fluently caught up with Alfonso Maria Canale, thirty-seven, wanted for posing as a physician specializing in Asian flu and collecting an estimated $100,000 in fees. They found him snuggled up in bed—with Asian flu.

REFINED WILDERNESS

"In answer to many requests," announced the Modern Beauty Salon in Whitehorse, Yukon Territory, it will be open on Friday nights to men only.

WORK OF ART

In Los Angeles, Donald K. Boster entered a painting in the All-City Outdoor Art Festival. He was rejected when officials learned that it was painted by a dozen engineers dipped in acid and allowed to sizzle over the canvas.

DEMOCRACY SIMPLIFIED

The Miami Herald carried an article clarifying for readers an intricately phrased resolution on rescuing a strip of beach front. It was pointed out that if they were against it, they should pull the lever marked fur, and if they were for it, to pull the lever marked against.

SMOKE GOT IN HIS EYES

A man went into a Detroit store and handed the owner 500 packages of cigarettes and fifty cents. He then explained that he had stolen 500 packs, but had repeated after smoking two.
